Democratic politicians, who claim to have inside in formation as to Dever's political intentions, predict that he will be a contender either for the Governorship or a place in the U.S. Senate, but those who should be in the best position to know declare that he will not run for

The conflict of opinion among persons supposedly close to the former Governor probably means that Mr. Dever is keeping his counsel to himself and possibly hasn't even

A Newton resident since he was eight years old, Mr. Ellingwood has been active in local and state political circles for the past 10 years. He was coordinator of the Eisenhower Rally held in Boston in 1952.

This same Republican, after pointing out that his commis-sion's plan would give a 3 to 1 ratio of Republican to Democratic districts, asked the question, "What is unfair about that"? and then went on to say, "One might well say that the com-mission offered the people what they voted for most cently." Hochberg disputes the figures on which this statement was based. He says, "Actually the official Election Statistics published by the Commonwealth show that Governor Herter received only a fraction of 1% (.61%) more of the total vote cast than Mr. Dever received." Hochberg also points out that one of the worst previous ger-rymanders in Massachusetts occurred in 1941 when our own Congressional District was completely rearranged in order to give a seat to Christian Herter, then Speaker of the Massachu-

Outstanding Act of Citizens

One of America's far-reaching organizations, the Boy Scouts of America, is marking its 44th birthday during Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7 to 13. On this notable milestone we find the Boy Scout movement at its peak in membership.

Today, 2,440,000 boys are enjoying the "game of Scouting" in its three distinct programs, Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting and Exploring, each appealing to boys of various age levels. We seldom stop to think that this great work is made possible largely through the active sponsorship of the church, the school and other community institutions. But perhaps even more significant is the fact that some 860,000 adults share their time as volunteer leaders with the boyhood of America.

Theirs is a devoted service. A large number have served many years. Boy Scout Week this year has been dedicated to honoring the Cubmasters, the Scoutmasters and the Explorer Advisors the men who bring Scouting directly to

To them has been entrusted the care and guidance of our boys and young men. It is their influence upon the Scouts of today, with whom they work and play, that help mold these boys and young men into better citizens and better proponents of the American way of life.

These unselfish men who give leadership in Scouting are performing an out-standing act of citizenship. Our nation owes them much.

Faith With a Heart

This is the story of a tavern keeper who kept faith with his heart.

Three years ago an unidentified Newton Heart volunteer left a plastic heartshaped coin collector on the bar at Tom's Cafe, 100 Needham street, Newton Highlands. Paul C. Callahan, the proprietor, guarded it carefully. That was in 1951. Nobody came to pick it up. The volunteer had apparently lost his list. Months pass-ed; 1952 came and went. Tom's Cafe was overlooked. But, Mr. Callahan kept the heart box on his bar. As it slowly filled up, he moved it farther to the rear, "To keep from having somebody steal it," he said. Twice burglars broke into the cafe-once in 1952 and again in 1953. The heart, in plain sight, was not touched.

Finally, on January 28, 1954, Mr. Calla-han called Charles A. Gates, executive director of the Heart Fund and a resident of Newton Highlands.

"Come and get my heart," said Calla-han. "It's full of money and I want a new

Mr. Gates called at Tom's Cafe, picked up the neglected heart, and counted its contents, sixteen dollars and twenty-eight cents added to Newton's free-will Heart

And a tribute to Paul C. Callahan who kept faith with his heart.

Political Overtones

For some time ex-Governor Dever has been trying to influence Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes to run for the Governorship, and so far Hynes has been entirely cool to the idea.

Whether Dever, in seeking to draw Hynes into the gubernatorial race, had in mind running for the Senate himself or remaining on the sidelines is uncertain, but it obviously means that he hadn't set his own gunsights on the Governor's chair.

Hynes has kept politicians in both parties guessing as to the course he intends to follow, dropping a hint at one time that would indicate that he is considering the possibility of running for higher office and voicing remarks on other occasions that would indicate he has no one thing that can definitely be reported, however, is that so far Hynes has not succumbed to the pressure that he carry the Democratic banner against Governor Herter next autumn.

Latest reports in Democratic quarters are that Democratic House Leader Robert

F. Murphy of Malden may get the nod from Dever to run for the Governorship.

Three and possibly four prominent Democrats have been marking time and waiting for Dever's pronouncement. The three are Congressman Philip J. Philbin, State Treasurer Foster Furcolo and Sheriff Howard Fitzpatrick of Middlesex County.
Philbin would like to seek promotion from Congress to the U. S. Senate but realizes he couldn't stand up against Dever in a Democratic primary. Fitzpatrick, who originally was appointed Sheriff by Dever, has ambitions to bid for the Governorship but wouldn't challenge Dever.

Furcolo, who was persuaded by Dever to give up his seat in Congress in 1952 and accept an appointment as State Treasurer, is ready for advancement, would like to run either for Governor or Senator, preferably the latter, but would be content to team with Dever and aim for whatever office the ex-Governor did not seek.

Murphy is one of Dever's lieutenants, has never campaigned for State-wide office, probably would like to become Speaker of the House, an honor he would achieve if the Democrats regained control of that ness to the recent suggestion legislative chamber, but undoubtedly would become a candidate for Governor if Mr. Dever advised him to do so.

To a degree Mr. Dever holds a veto power over the hopes of the potential and prospective Democratic candidates in that he will come pretty close to controlling the Democratic State convention at Worcester next June.

But while the convention endorsement would be a psychological advantage to a contender receiving it, the loss of it would not necessarily be fatal to a strong candidate who didn't get it for Democratic voters usually don't attach the same importance to convention actions as do their Republican cousins.

Ex-Governor James M. Curley, for example, declares that he's in the Senate race to stay, that he won't get out of it for Dever or anybody else and that if he's turned down by the convention he will carry his case to the Democratic voters in of Aldermen.

the primary.

Curley, incidentally, would be a very potent candidate in a primary, and except for Dever and Hynes, both of whom may be on the sidelines, it's doubtful that there are many Democrats who could defeat him for a nomination even though he is in his 80th year. That's a rather mixed-up political picture for the Democrats, but perhaps Mr. Dever will clarify it during the next few days.

The Republicans, who two years ago didn't have a potent candidate of their own after for Governor and obtained one only after a delegation waited upon Christian A. Herter in Washington and persuaded him to run, must be enjoying the plight of the Democrats this time.

Bricker Amendment Fight Shows Party

The basic split within the Republican membership of Congress is emphasized and underscored by the controversy over the so-called Bricker Amendment.

This writer still recalls Senator John W. Bricker, his long, white mane flowing, pleading the cause of the late Senator Robert A. Taft at the 1952 G.O.P. national convention during the fight over the move by the Eisenhower forces to throw out a block of southern delegates pledged to Taft.

In appearance, in mannerism, in word and in action, Bricker typified the Old Guard of the Republican party, and to an extent he also typified the powerful ele-ment in the G.O.P. that was aligned behind Taft who was its leader and standdard-bearer.

That segment in Congress commands greater strength than does the opposing wing of all-out Eisenhower backers, and this is another instance where the votes which will shift the battle tide for President Eisenhower will flow from the Democratic party.

An unusual aspect to this fight is that Bricker first proposed his amend-ment during the Truman administraat time about 10 Re can Senators, who have since shifted to the President's side, gave it their sup-port. California's Senator Knowland, now the Republican floor leader in the Senate, was, for example, one of the initial co-signers of the Bricker measure.

The ramifications to the contest over the Bricker Amendment will be far-reaching. Even some of those Republican Senators who have shifted their position in deference to the President are jealous of their powers.

There is little doubt but that the Bricker Amendment ultimately will be de-feated—with Democratic votes. One of the things many observers are wondering is how much resentment the battle will leave among the Republican members of Congress and whether the G.O.P. Solons whose feelings are wounded may eventually cause embarassment for the President.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

The City of Fort Wayne, Ind., last week paid $5,000 to the widow of an executed killer who confessed three murders to his wife so she could collect the reward for solving them. While awaiting trial for the slaying of a teen-age girl, Franklin Click wrote out a full confession of the three murders and mailed it to his wife so she could use it to claim the reward offered by the city. He was subsequently executed at the Indiana State

A 19-year-old girl student who was expelled from Piedmont College in Clarks-ville, Ga., for allegedly stealing $2 has brought suit for $140,000 against the president of the institution. She claimed that her potential earning power had been reduced by the fact that she was "denied a college education."

The principal of the Kalispell High School in Kalispell, Mont., recently announced that his school is teaching the six R's. He listed the other three as responsibility, rights and relationships.

Arraigned in a Pasadena, Calif., court on a charge of robbery, Joseph J. Finny was asked by the judge if he wanted a lawyer. "Just give me a machine gun, and I'll get out of here," was his reply.

PRAISES CITY CLERK

(The following letter was received from Mrs. John C. McClintock, president of the League of Women Voters of Newton.) Mr. Monte Basbas, City Clerk

City Hall Newton, Massachusetts Dear Mr. Basbas:

The City Clerk's Department has always been most co-operative with the League of Women Voters of Newton in our endeavor to promote active and informed participation of citizens in government. An example of this is your receptiveof the League that records of the meetings of the Board of Aldermen be more readily accessible to the public.

As a result of conversations between yourself and Mrs. Richard Mintz, chairman of the Local Affairs Committee of the League, it is our understanding that records of Aldermanic meetings will be kept in a notebook at the City Clerk's office. This notebook will contain the record of those present at Aldermanic meetings and formal actions taken by the Board.

Although this is a seemingly very small matter, nonetheless of access for interested citi-zens to the actions of the Board

We commend your coopera tion in this matter in making available for the first time in Newton a simplified public record of the actions of our local legislative body.

We are, as usual, greatly indebted to you for your personal interest and the co-operation of the City Clerk's Department.

CONGRATULATIONS

Editor, Newton Graphic: For the past two years, as president of the Newtonville Improvement Association, I have had many occasions to call on the various departments of our city for assistance. Each and every one has cooperated wholeheartedly and made a sincere effort to do more than required of them.

Many people in the city do not realize the unusually fine protection we receive from our Police Department. These men are looking after our welfare twenty-four hours a day. They have responded immediately every time I have called.

The Fire Department helped erect the Newtonville Improvement Association Christmas display in Newtonville square for which we are profoundly grateful.

Mr. Buckley and his assistants of the sign painting de-partment erected our sign at Edmunds Park, welcoming the citizens of Newton to use the facilities of this beautiful recreation area. The illuminated 'Season's Greetings" sign was also donated by this depart-

During the last snow storm, the Street Department plowed both the streets and sidewalks and kept the traffic moving free-seas since February, 1953.

more and MDC officials on his proposal, and claimed all were in favor. Mr. Anderson offered a resolution asking the mayor to investigate the possibilities, and the motion passed 16-4.

Alderman Anderson prefaced his remarks by referring to a news item appearing in another paper circulated in Newton, which predicted that he planned a "fight" over making Hobart road a one-way street.

"I have never fought for anything in this board," he stated. "I work for what I believe with my heart." The ro-tary circle, he explained, would remove his objections to the one-way restriction. A new ordinance was passed allowing the city solicitor to settle all claims against the city of less than $200. Reporting on the measure, Alderman William R. Mattson pointed out that the board has spent "a tremendous amount of time" approving small claims in the

The change has the mayor's "tacit approval," he reported. In answer to a question as to control over the money spent, Mr. Mattson said the settlements depended upon the city solicitor's "good legal judg-

Commenting that the soliciwould not have a completely free hand, Alderman Can-non said that the city solicitor had promised to make reports on the settlements at regular intervals, but he would have to come before the aldermen for additional funds once the preliminary appropriation of $1000

The new zoning laws, which raised the minimum sizes for home lots, were attacked by Alderman Cannon as working a hardship on residents whose property was not in one of the housing development areas.

Speaking on a request for a permit to subdivide a lot on Beacon street, Waban, into three house loss, he said he understood that property owners in older areas would re-ceive "great consideration" when seeking to change their lot sizes.

The change would be permitted under the old ordinance, Mr. Cannon said, but now it is illegal. He claimed claims and rules committee was "absolutely wrong" in denying the request.

Alderman V. Stoddard Bigelow objected, "This is exactly the kind of thing which prompted the new zoning ordi-nances," and Alderman Richard H. Lovell termed the change "trying to crowd things in with a shoehorn."

The petition was defeated 19-1, with only Alderman Cannon voting for it.

Newton's ordinances prought into line with neighboring cities with an amendment requiring the reporting to police of all accidents in which $100 damage is done or personal injuries caused. The previous limit was $25.

Charged for Tax Evasion

Charles A. Breed, 50, of 47 Bay street, Newton, an official of the Charles Breed Company, Washington street, West Newton, one of the largest oil bur-ner installation concerns in New England, was indicted last Thursday by the Federal Grand Jury on a charge of willful evasion of income taxes Breed was sole proprietor of the company.

The indistment charges that Breed filed false and fraudulent joint income tax returns on behalf of himself and his wife. Only Breed is a de ant.

Asst. United States Attorneys James J. Sullivan, Jr., and Francis J. DiMento presented case to the Grand Jury. The Grand Jury submitted its report to Judge William T. McCarthy.

The year 1947 was included in the indictment despite the statute of limitations, because it is charged that Breed, in July, 1949, filed an application for a tentative carry-back adjustment for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1947.

It is the contention of the government that Breed's application in 1949 for an adjust-ment for 1947 made Breed liable for alleged deficiencies in 1947.

April 30, 1949, the indictment states that Breed claimed a loss of $33,213, so that no tax was due, whereas, according to the indictment, the joint net in come was $25,877 on which a tax of $5250 was due.

Breed paid $16,518 in taxes for the four years but should have paid $59,662, the indictment states.

No date has been set for ar raignment.

will be the principal speaker. Tickets for the breakfast are available from the District Captains located in various sections of the Parish as follows: Joseph McPherson, John L. Maftin, Jr., Thomas Dillon, Angelo Acchione, John Miskella, William P. Ryan, John Barton, Steve McIntyre, Allan S. McLean, Larry Colletti, Martin W. Rog-ers, James Moran, John W. Curley.

Newton's win and Belmont's loss left the Orange and Black a single point behind the Townies with two games to play in the GBI round-robin series . . . Newton put up a rugged defense against the Cantabs as goalie Tom McLellan racked up his second shut-out of the season. Superb play by the Cambridge goalie kept Newton from running away with the decision as at least three sure scores were blocked by the pair of alert net-keepers... Cambridge opened the game with a substitute goaltender due to a pre-game injury suffered by the regular one. The sub pulled off two terrific saves in the opening minutes and then was lifted as goalie Lee Parks returned to the ice with a heavily-taped chin.

Parks turned away three more hard shots in the first period, while in the Newton end McLellan had only one bona-fide save. Several long shots flew past the cage like bullets as McLellan waved at them but didn't lay his glove on them . . . In the first minute of the second stanza, winger Freddy Dow stole the puck in the Cantab end, lost it, then stole it back again to drive in clear on the net. Parks again made a superb play to keep Dow's shot from counting.

Center Art DeStefano later broke in for a clean shot, only to have following direct services to in Parks rise to the occasion again. In this frame, the Cambridge goalie blocked aside eight shots in contrast to the single one fired into McLellan . . While Newton was enjoying—and that's the right word for it—the intermission between periods, Melrose completed its unbelievable upset against Belmont. This game was easily the best of the season, and left many observers wondering if Melrose was really the team that Newton led to the slaughter last Article 7 of the By-Laws.

Let's hope Melrose isn't feeling quite as high last week, or they may catch Newton looking ahead to the Belmont

When the buzzer finally signalled the end of Bel-mont's unbeaten string, jubilant Melrose skaters were joined in their celebration by the Newton players who pounded their next week's opponents on their backs with joy. It was hard to tell which team was the happier as confusion—to coin a cliche—reigned supreme and fired a 20-footer at the goal. Parks blocked the shot, but the disc bobbled five feet out in front of the cage and Dow, in clear, lifted it over the prostrate goalie for the second Newton tally . . . After this score, however, Newton reverted at times to spiritless, conservative play, quite in contrast to the exhibitions they have been giving for the past month. Perhaps their thoughts were already straving to the next two encounters. to the next two encounters, The Orange and Black skaters still forced Parks to make eight difficult saves during the period, while Cambridge managed to get off five shots against McLellan . . . With only 43 seconds left in the game, Contab Capt. John Theall swiped the puck for a six-footer that clearly beat the Newton goaltender. But seconds before a Cambridge wing had massaged Jimmy Wiper's head with his stick, so the goal was disallowed because of the penalty . . . Comparatively unnoticed by Newton's six straight victories after tying Stoneham and losing by a single goal to Belmont has been the performance of McLellan between the pipes. House Primary in Three Newton Wards Next Tuesday . . . Three Well Known Citizens Seek G.O.P. Nomination . . .

Three well known Newton citizens will battle it out next Tuesday for the Republican nomination for the House of Representatives and the right to carry their party's banner in the final election to be held March 9.

Since last autumn it seems that there has hardly been a time when, Newton, or some section of the city, wasn't either holding an election, getting ready for one or just getting over one.

This time the voters on the south side of the community in Wards 4, 5 and 6 are preparing to choose the legislator who will succeed Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.,

The three contenders for the Republican endorsement in the important primary scheduled for Tuesday are William J. Baxter of Newton Centre, William M. Ellingwood of Oak Hill and Arthur G. Heaney of Newton Highlands.

Reminiscing Back Through 125 Years

The announcement that the Newton Savings Bank is planning to observe its one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary is stimulating to the imagination as one thinks of the changes which have occurred in this era.

Looking Backward

In 1820 the population of Newton was 1,850 and there were 218 houses, valued at an average of $430.00 each. By 1830 the population was 2,376 with 293 houses valued at an average of $554.00 each.

In 1830 the first steam railroad, Liverpool and Manchester The Worcester Railroad was opened for conveyance of pas sengers from Boston as far as West Newton, April 16, 1834. In 1829 the Postmaster-General became a recognized mem ber of the President's Cabinet.

The first post office in Newton was at Newton Lower Falls in 1816, another one was started at Newton Corner in 1820, and was followed by one at Newton Centre in 1827.

Lafayette passed through Newton during his last visit to this country in 1825 and shook hands with a number of pupils of Seth Davis' School ranged at the side of the road to receive him. Mr. Davis, the son of a revolutionary soldier, was one of the best known citizens of West Newton. His one hundredth birthday in 1887 was a community event. In 1802 when he arrived in West Newton from Ashby there were only five houses in the village. At the time of the Lafayette visit he was the head of a private school of high standing. He invented a school room where he sat in the center in a clear space with stalls around the walls where the pupils were separated by partitions from each other, but under his direct supervision aided by well placed mirrors.

In 1830 Daniel Webster made his famous speech for the Union in his famous debate with Robert G. Hayne, advocate of

On January 1, 1829, the National Debt was $58,421,413.00. The first high school in the United States was established in Boston in 1821 as the Boys' Classical School, complementary to the Boys' Latin Grammar School which began in 1635 mainly to prepare boys for entrance to Harvard College.

The term "high school" was not officially applied until 1824,

Speak Up For Brotherhood Brotherhood is like the weather.

Nearly everybody talks about it. There isn't much any of us can do about rain or snow. But there's a lot all of us can do about Brotherhood.

Of course, we pay it lip service. We know that our Constitution gives everybody civil rights, including freedom of worship and belief, freedom to think and read and speak. We all speak up for these constitutional liberties. And talk about Brotherhood, just talk itself, is a good thing. It keeps us thinking about our neighbors and it keeps advertising the need for understanding.

We need to remind ourselves that democracy is a system of free men banded together to keep freedom in a free country. Freedom can flourish only where there is understanding. Prejudices and discrimination, intolerance and persecution exist only where there is ignorance. That's why talk about Brotherhood is good for democracy. Beyond talk, there is more we can do. All over America there are organizations helping to spread Brotherhood. There is the National Conference of Christians and Jews, and there are Councils for Human Relations in many cities. There is the great work of the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts which helps promote Brotherhood. Giving blood to the Red Cross is Brotherhood at work. For that matter, a simple "hello" to a neighbor is Brotherhood.

Next week is Brotherhood Week and we are more conscious right now of what Brotherhood means. It will help America and every American to make every week Brotherhood Week.

Boy Scout Week

This is Boy Scout Week, February 7-13. On this 44th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scouts of America we pause to pay tribute to the cornerstones of the Scout family: -To the volunteer leaders, the men and women whose devoted service helps build boys for a better tomorrow. Mostly mothers and dads of Scouts, their work outside and within the home has enriched family life and brought character to our

-To the sponsoring institutions, the school organizations, religious bodies, veteran's associations, fraternal orders, service clubs and other groups who open their doors to boys and furnish the leadership essential to keep the program going.

The Scout family is growing and becoming stronger. Nearly 3000 Newton boys are now taking advantage of the Scouting programs, and Scouting's record of boy-achievement is evident in the fine quality of our younger citizens.

Attorney Alvin S. Hochberg of Newton Highlands, who has strong ADA backing, is unopposed for the Democratic nomi-nation and three weeks from Tuesday will meet the winner of the Baxter-Ellingwood-Heaney contest.

All three candidates for the Republican nomination are well known in the city, and a close race may develop in Tuesday's balloting. Baxter and Ellingwood both have been active in G.O.P.

organizations. Baxter is probably best known for his service as Newton's civil defense director, and former Mayor Theodore Lockwood paid warm tribute to him when he resigned from the post to enter the House con-test. He is a member of the Newton City Republican Committee, lives at 165 Elgin road in Newton Centre and has been a resident of Newton for 27 years.

Ellingwood is chairman of the activities committee of the Massachusetts Republican Club. He is a salesman. His home is at 16 Kerr path in the Oak Hill section, and he has lived in Newton for 24 years.

Heaney is assistant treasurer and controller of the American Conditioning House, a wool testing and textile research laboratory. He resides at 70 Shady Hill road in Newton Highlands and has been a resident of Newton Highlands and has been a resident of Newton for a dozen years.

One of the three will be picked by the Republican voters in the fifth Middlesex House district as their candidate to replace Whitmore.

Because there is no contest for the Democratic nomination, far more Republicans than Democrats will go to the polls

However, although the district ordinarily is considered securely Republican, ADA members plan a big drive to get out a Democratic vote three weeks hence. They think they may have a chance of staging an upset. Baxter was a candidate for the Republican House nomination in 1950 and lost by only 300 votes. He waged an extremely energetic bid in that campaign, calling at more than 1200 homes. Carol calling at more than 1200 homes. is one of Baxter's leading supporters. Heaney is being backed by Mrs. Stet-son, chairman of the Ward 5 Republican Committee, and Mrs. Kerr, vice-president of the Republican City Committee. A cofounder of the Newton Council of Improvement Associations, he was active for 10 years in the Oak Hill District Improvement Association, serving in turn as director, secretary and president of that organization.

Ellingwood has commanded attention as chairman of the activities committee of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, well known and liked in the section of the legislative district in which he lives and has put on a real drive. Political observers suspect that the candidate who wins the primary will be faced with a real battle next month from Hochberg, head of the Newton chapter of the ADA. For the first time in its history, Newton now has a full fledged Democratic City Committee with ward and precinct chairmen and captains, and the Democrats are about ready to challenge butes. Profound problems the Republicans. Dever's Announcement Leaves Democratic Leaders up in Air as to Future Plans . . .

Democratic leaders throughout Massachusetts are now soberly pondering three questions as a result of political developments during the past few days:

1. Will Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes yield to pressure from party leaders and become a candidate for Governor? 2. Will ex-Governor Paul A. Dever agree to a draft at the Democratic State convention early in June in the event that

Hynes declines to run? Who will carry their party's banner against Governor Herter, if both Hynes and Dever decide to remain on the State Treasurer Foster Furcolo may have speeded up the Democratic time-table to some extent by his pronouncement that he will seek a place in the United States Senate.

Hynes, who is not anxious to run for anything next November, has been more disposed to become a candidate for Senator than Governor—if he sought any office. The fact that Furcolo already has stepped into the Senate field may strengthen the Mayor's determination to remain out of this year's political conten-

Treasurer Furcolo probably would be a potent candidate against Senator Saltonstall next November, if he wins his party's nomination in the September primary. He was an excellent Congressman. He is an extremely personable young man, a fine speaker and is highly popular in Western Massachu-

What some political pundits are won-dering, however, is whether Furcolo can defeat ex-Mayor James M. Curley in the Democratic primary.

America is richer today because of a boy born in a log cabin. America is richer because of getting out for anybody and has stated that if he is turned down at ideals in how because of a boy born in a log cabin. the September primary.

If Curley does what he says he is going to do, party leaders are going to have to reckon with him because he would not hope to be I owe to my sainted be a pushover for Furcolo or anyone else mother." in a Democratic primary.

Curley is no longer a young man. He couldn't set the campaign pace he was able to maintain 10 years ago. But he is still tremendously popular with a vast number of Democrats, many of whom would march into their polling places and give him a vote.

In a Democratic primary the bulk of the votes will be cast in Boston and a few adjoining cities, not in Western Massachusetts. More Democratic votes will be dropped into the ballot boxes in a few Boston wards, where Curley has his greatest following, than in the entire area from Springfield to the New York line.

Democratic leaders are counting on their ability to talk Curley into quitting the fight, but that may not be accom-panied quite as easily as some of them anticipate, if Curley has made up his

At this stage of his career Curley has little to lose by campaigning for any office. And in a day when the voters are easily reached by television he doesn't have to worry too much about campaigning arduously from platform to platform.

Curley is still an engaging orator who can draw the interest of his listeners and hold it. On a speaking platform he can still give lessons to the younger candidates who were infants when he was first running for Mayor. At this stage of his career Curley running for Mayor.

So it wouldn't be wise to discount Mr. Curley as a factor in the Democratic pic-ture unless he takes himself out of the ture unless he takes himself out of the contest and retires to the sidelines, something he insists he isn't going to do.

Exactly where Congress Philip J. Philbin now fits into the Democratic picture is another interesting question. The answer seems to be that he doesn't fit anywhere and make himself any for reelection where and probably will run for reelection to Congress. Philbin has been eyeing a spot in the Senate for a long time and actually has been conducting a campaign for one, even though he has never actually announced his candidacy.

However, the Dever wing of the Democratic party is known to favor Fur-colo over Philbin and probably will back him at the State convention unless Hynes steps into the field.

That means that Philbin probably would have little chance of getting the convention nod.

Philbin appears to be blocked. If he Curley and Furcolo, it would be a setup for Curley, with Philbin and Furcolo cutting up the vote in central and western Massachusetts.

In attempting to forecast the status of ex-Governor Dever, it must be remem-bered that Dever's lieutenants will come pretty close to controlling their party's State convention.

They can produce a draft for Dever overnight. In fact, they would have more trouble stopping one than start-ing one. If Dever is willing to be drafted, as some observers believe because of the wording of his statement in which he said he would not "seek" the office of either Governor or Senator, the nomination will be dropped in-

Dever unquestionably was sincere in his pronouncement that he had decided not to run. Persons close to him say that he would prefer to sit on the sidelines and see Hynes and Furcolo team up as the two contenders at the head of the Democratic ticket.

The ex-Governor conceivably might consent to be drafted, if he were not satisfied that the prospective Democratic candidate for Governor could make a real fight against Governor Herter.

If Hynes decides not to run, which is what most onlookers expect his decision will be, the prospective gubernatorial can-didates will be Sheriff Howard Fitzpatrick, Democratic House Leader Robert F. Murphy and possibly Congressman Philbin.

It will not be surprising if Dever's willingness to succumb to a draft depends on Hynes' decision.

AMERICA'S ANCHOR MAN

Editor Newton Graphic: Historians frequently mold great men as if they were hewn great men as if they were hewn out of granite... Robert Paige, movie actor turned radio and television emece. recently namd what he thought were the best contestants on an audience-participation show. He listed, in order, servicemen in uniform, retired professional and business people, and reluctant or shy persons.

As for servicemen, they make excellent fodder for quimmafers because most of them have an exciting incident to relate, and besides, the average servicemen is restrained so much in expressing himself at the camp that when he does get a chance to sound off a bit. he makes the most of it. Retired business and professional people make excellent contestants, too, says Mr. Paige, because they know what they want to say and how to say it.

This emece shies away from boisterous persons in the audience. He explains that they often clam up when they get on stage and away from the crowd. Refuctant ones, on the other hand, modestly agree to appear and then, once in front of the microphone, wonder what they're doins on stage. These modest, shy and blushing tolks often impire ad libs and lots of laughs through their sheer homesty.

afternoon at the Boston Arena when Newton faces Belmont with the Greater Boston Interscholastic League championship at stake. This last game of the season finds the Orange and Black a single point behind the high-flying Belmont sextet which swept through the first seven games unbeaten but then found rough sledding in the round-robin championship finals.... Playing with one eye on the scoreboard, Newton managed to hold off stubborn Melrose by a 1-0 count, while Belmont nipped weak Cambridge Latin 3-2. This week's star for the Orange and Black was goalie Tom McLellan, who recorded his second shutout in succession with a fantastic goal-tending exhibition.... McLellan's strong performance between the pipes gave a boost to his team's chances of tripping Belmont next week, especially after the somewhat inept showing of the Belmont goaltender. Goal has been the weak spot for Belmont all season, while McLellan has been improving steadily with every game....Local fan who can get to the Boston Arena Saturday at 1 p.m. will find themselves at one of the top schoolboy hockey attractions of the year. They will also be witnessing-we hope-another great comeback by a Newton team which didn't score a victory until the third game of the year but now is only a win

The Orange and Black skated off to a quick lead following the opening faceoff as Art DeStefano blocked an attempt by a Melrose player to carry the puck out of the Melrose zone, took two quick strides toward the cage and calmly flipped the disc through the goalie's legs. . . . The tally came at 34 seconds of play and stunned the Melrose sextet. It must have brought back memories of the stunning 6-1 trouncing handed them two weeks before by the Orange and Black.

No runaway was in sight, however, and Newton was on the defensive for the better part of the game. Defensemen Jimmy Wiper and Paul Fitzgerald body-checked harshly to keep Melrose at bay in the first period, but during the intermission an apparent flaw in the Newton tactics was spotted by Melrose. . . . Thereafter, whenever one of the defensemen started to check an on-rushing forward, he forward would drop the puck to the outside of the defense and carry the defender toward the center. This left Melrose skaters flying in on the goal only to be thwarted again and again by McLellan.... Early in the second stanza, Wiper and Fitzgerald found themselves blocking the same player as a Melrose forward came in alone on Mc-Lellan. The puck was shot from about five feet out. It was slightly deflected by McLellan and flew into the draperies. The Melrose fans screamed prematurely, thinking it a score, until the puck was cleared by Newton from the side of the nets. . . . About a minute later, another Melrose player was in the clear for a blazing shot. Taking no chances, McLellan blocked and then smothered the scoring attempt. The story of the game followed a similar script throughout the second and third periods. It was Mc-Lellan playing the role of the immovable object that made the difference between the two teams. Newton's few scoring thrusts were turned aside at the other end of the rink, and Melrose flew to the attack without pause.

The best scoring chance for the red-and-white skaters came at eight minutes of the third period. Mc-Lellan again blocked the shot of a player in the clear, but the elusive puck dribbled through his legs and bobbled behind him.... For what seemed like an agonizing century, he stood frozen in front of the cage, trying to spy the puck while not daring to move lest he knock it into the net. Finally he dropped to the ice, smothered the disc and saved Newton rooters from biting their fingernails down to the elbow. The chips will be in plain sight Saturday. A tie will do Newton no good. It's win or be satisfied with second place. Second place may seem good for a team which was expected to skate at little better than a .500 pace. This Orange and Black squad, though, has everything it needs to puncture Belmont's title dreams.... Newton is about the heaviest and is certainly the hardest-checking outfit who were voted in at this meeting as follows: Lawrence Burk, and, Vice-President; Doris M. Carter, Secretary; Charles Mergendahl, Treasurer; Dr. Robert Muse, Camp Committee Chairman; Roger Salinger, Program and Personnel Chairman; Roger Salinger, Program and Personnel Chairman; Richard White, Property Maintenance Committee Chairman; Benjamin Shattuck, Publicity Committee Chairman; Benjamin Shattuck, Publicity Committee Chairman; Adelaide Mrs. William S. But don't sell Belmont short. Johnny Viglirolo and Ned Bunyan, two pint-size players, are nevertheless ranking one-two in GBI scoring. Belmont can explode with a hatful of goals whenever the opposition stops for breath....It remains to be seen how the speedy Belmontians will react to a few stiff checks. Their lack of size may easily hurt them in this department. We wrote the following phrase on the eve of Newton's classic marathon with Waltham on the gridiron and nearly suffered heart failure during the game; Newton won, however, so we're calling on them for victory again. Come on, Tigers!

This Is The Story of Scores of Massachusetts Towns —

... maybe your town too!

New housing developments are putting a tremendous burden on Massachusetts towns and communities. More road, water, school and fire prevention facilities are needed. More telephones, too.

We are working hard to meet the demands of those who are without telephone service as well as the requests of those who wish additional service or a change in type of service.

For every new housing development that has appeared in Massachusetts since the war, complete telephone service has had to be installed. Many new central offices had to be built and equipped, others had to be enlarged and additional equipment installed. In some cases, the whole plan of furnishing telephone service to a community had to be changed from one central office to another. Materials and everything that goes into new telephone service have had to be supplied during a period of intensive inflation with resultant high costs.

But high costs or not, it is our job to provide good telephone service for all. You can be sure that telephone men and women will work hard and long . . . until everyone has the type of telephone service he desires.

Democrats Hope for Upset in Newton House Fight . . . GOP Can't Afford to Take Election for Granted . . .

Some Republican observers have offered the opinion that Arthur G. Heaney of Oak Hill is assured of election to the Massachusetts House of Representatives on March 9 as a result of his winning the G.O.P. nomination in Tuesday's special primary. That, however, is a risky

Heaney will be a heavy favorite to capture the House seat formerly held by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr. There is no question but that he would be elected, if all the voters in the district turn out to cast their ballots. But the contest between Heaney and Alvin S. Hochberg, the Democratic nominee, might prove a stiffer fight than is commonly anticipated.

The natural impulse on comparing the substantial Republican vote recorded on Tuesday with the slim total received by Hochberg is to decide that the battle is "no-

The flaw in that reasoning is that Hochberg's Demo-cratic supporters made no attempt to pull out a vote on Tuesday. They were reserving their big drive for the March 9, and they will be aiming now for an upset and surprise. The A.D.A. with which Hochberg is associated will make a real effort to get out their voters. The campaign of the next two and a half weeks may develop into a fairly interesting one.

MIDNIGHT DUMP BLAZE. The Bemis dump in Watertown, long a controversial issue with Newton residents, burst into flames early last Friday morning and firefighters from four communities battled the two-alarm blaze which engulfed 1500 feet of the dump.

COMPLETING JOB. Under the direction of Sgt. William J. Bell, poll-listing of residents of this city is expected to be completed this week. The total number of persons listed last year was 63,685. Thus far this year a total of 7,250 pre-school children have been listed as follows: Under 1 year, 1,150; 1 year, 1,093; 2 years, 1,346; 3 years, 1,303; 4 years, 1,188; 5 years, 1,170.

25-YEAR TRIO HONORED. Three 25-year buttons were presented as the Newton Lodge of Elks conducted "Past Exalted Rulers' Night" at the Elks Hall, Newton, last Thursday night. Those honored with pins were John J. Geegan, William E. Butler, and D. K. MacLean.

URGE LEGISLATION. The transfer of funds, earmarked for an MDC swimming pool in Watertown, to Newton was urged at a public hearing held by the Metropolitan Affairs Committee on Senate Bill 66 at the State House last week. Apearing in favor of the legislation was Harry Gath, Jr., of 600 California street, and William E. Halliday of 110 Cherry street, West New-

MERCHANTS WARNED. Local merchants have been warned by the police department to be on the lookout for a young man, who describing himself as a Harvard student, passed a worthless check in a Newton Centre shop last week.

ADVOCATES PURCHASE. Veterans' Service Commis sioner Edmund T. Dungan has advocated the purchase of 64 additional graves to add to the Veterans' Lot in Newton Cemetery. The new plot, which would cost $6300, will make a total of 157 unused graves in the lot, Mr. Dungan said. The proposed purchase is of the land at the rear of the monument, erected to servicemen missing in action, and is adjacent to the lot containing 78 graves which was acquired in 1947. Following the recommendation of the music committee, of which Thomas A. West is chairman, the trustees voted the temporary appointment of Mrs. Fisher. She has been giving her services as organist-choir director since the death in Jan-uary of William Ellis Weston, who had been both organist and choirmaster for 27 years at the West Newton Unitarian Church. A permanent appoint-ment will be made later from among a number of candidates for the organist post.

Extremists in Both Parties Do Damage . . . Ike Must Count on Democratic Support . . .

Old-time politicians are having a difficult time in adjusting themselves to the strange situation prevailing on the national political front, with top Democrats protesting loudly against the unbridled attacks being made by Republican extremists and President Eisenhower cautioning his party members against excessive partisanship.

The old-timer in politics sighs deeply for the "good, old" days, when politicians under attack dug into their own bags of epithets and vituperation, when little heed was paid to facts and truth, and slander was spread like chaff in a high wind. The feelings of office-holders didn't bruise quite so easily in those times, he points

The fact is, of course, that the voters today are far better informed than they were a generation ago, that campaign orators no longer can indulge in ringing allegations without marshalling support-ing evidence and that politicians who engage in indiscriminate attacks may injure their party and possibly themselves as well.

If the Republicans enjoyed big majorities in Congress and President Eisenhower could count on enough G.O.P. support to assure the adoption of his legis-lative program, this campaign, which still has more than eight months to run, undoubtedly would prove the roughest and harshest in modern times. But the President must look to Democratic help if he is to secure the passage of any legislative program at all.

Republicans and Democrats cross party lines to such an extent when almost any controversial issue is being voted on in Congress that a casual onlooker might well wonder how either party is going to produce any partisan issues in next au-tumn's campaign.

There is no question but that the President's program might be seriously jeopardized, if the bitter Republican attacks persist. Ike probably could not achieve the adoption of any portion of his program without some Democratic help.

Aside from that consideration, soberminded GOP leaders also realize that such party extremists as Senators McCarthy and Jenner may offend and drive away countless thousands of Democratic and independent voters who marked their ballots for President Eisenhower in the 1952

As no less a political personage than Governor Herter has repeatedly emphas-ized, a man cannot be elected either President of the United States or Governor of Massachusetts on Republican votes alone. He must get some help from the independents and Democrats, and Ike polled a vast number of votes outside his own party.

The Democratic politicians are by no means blameless in the current controversy. To try to mount an issue of their own and a counter-offensive to the Republican allegations on communism, they began hurling charges that the Republicans were leading the nation into an economic recession.

It was the reply of Sherman Adams, the President's administrative chief, who accused Democratic leaders of attempting to talk the nation into a depression and who characterized them as "sadists" trying to substitute a "Fear Deal" for "Fair Deal," which actually started the shouting and shooting.

It seems obvious to most observers that the Democratic talk of a Republican recession was premature and could boomerang politically if next autumn finds the nation enjoying a high level of prosperity.

Democratic members of Congress must realize better than anyone else that President Eisenhower cannot control the so-called Republican "wild men," headed by Jenner and McCarthy and that their allegations of Democratic "treason" are likely to continue. So far there has been no evidence that McCarthy and Jenner paid the slightest heed to the President's request for a cessation of extreme par-

It is going to be interesting to follow the temper and tone of the blasts from the rival political camps during the weeks

The big mistake which State Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe seemingly made in connection with the plans for the Central Artery was in not making public the revised and modified State route before he did.

Much of the criticism of and objection to the State plan for building the artery across downtown Boston stemmed from people who were talking about the route announced last autumn and who knew little or nothing about the changes that had been made to lessen the impact of the blow on Chinatown and the garment and leather districts.

While the $50,000,000 cost of building an artery from Fort Hill square to Broadway seems staggering at first glance, a study of the so-called modified State plan and the proposed Atlantic avenue route leaves the definite impression that the State route is vastly superior from almost every standpoint, that it would provide better service for motor-ists and do more to build business for Boston in the future.

There would have been much less criticism and confusion if Volpe had removed the veil of secrecy earlier than he did.

The proposal by the Judicial Council that a law be enacted prohibiting the televising of witnesses while they are testifying under oath before a legislative, judicial or executive body or other public agency or tribunal, may not make any hit with TV viewers, but it seems necessary to curb an abuse which is likely to assume increasingly serious proportions.

The recent televised Senate subcommittee hearings in Boston on juvenile delinquency were little more than a show staged for the entertainment of countless thousands watching their television screens and to promote the political for-tunes of a U. S. Senator whose own party in New Jersey is anxious to dump him.

Little was accomplished by the proceedings other than to create the impression that conditions in Boston are a good deal worse than they really are. This was accomplished partly by distorting facts and figures which had been turned over to a so-called undercover agent for the committee.

What the Judicial Council had in mind, of course, is that the average person is nervous and uncertain while being interrogated at any hearing and that this nervousness is greatly increased if the witness has television lights glaring down upon him and realizes he is being made a part of a spectacle and show.

Such a setup may be ideal for a politician looking for a little free advertising and seeking to promote a campaign, but it's hardly fair to an ordinary witness who may appear at very great disadvantage, and as the Council pointed out it's not in the tradition of American justice.

It will be interesting to see whether the Legislature has the courage and good judgment to enact such a law.

Baseball fans can thank Representative James C. Bayley, Jr., of the Back Bay for the repeal of a very silly law cover ing Sunday baseball games at which is

If it is proper to play a baseball game at all on Sunday, it certainly should be permissible to use the lighting system if it is needed without being forced to call off a game at 6:30 if it had not been vice. Look at what the New finished by that time.

Haven Railroad did with these Haven Railroad did with these was solved.

The regulation made no sense at all, and Representative Bayley earned the gratitude of baseball followers by his fight to have it wined from the books fight to have it wiped from the books.

U. S. Senator Robert C. Hendrickson of New Jersey, who conducted the recent juvenile delinquency hearings in Boston, has been in disfavor for some time in his home State and is not expected to win renomination.

Despatches from Trenton, N. J., disclose that New Jersey G.O.P. leaders have day. held a series of secret meetings and have decided to back former Congressman Clifford P. Case for the seat now held by Hendrickson.

Hendrickson has announced his candidacy for reelection, but Republican chieftains, who consider he would be a weak candidate, are bringing pressure on him to withdraw, promising to support him for a judicial appointment or some other federal post if he accedes to their demands. demands.

The reports indicate that Senator Hendrickson is striving to boost his political stock with his televised juvenile delinquency hearings but that while he created quite a sensation in Greater Boston, he hasn't made much of an impact on the voters in his own State.

Washington statisticians report that the average Republican national commit-teewoman is 55 years old, married, the mother of two children and more likely than not a grandmother.

Their business and professional interests cover a wide range. The national committeewoman from Montana owns and operates a large ranch, the one from Wyoming is vice-president of a bank, the one from Mississippi is a painter, the one from North Dakota owns and operates a radio station with her husband.

URGES USE OF RAILROAD Editor, Newton Graphic:

I was quite interested in your column "What Do You Think Newton Needs Most?" in your February 11th issue.

To my mind what this district and also Newton Upper Falls needs most is more up-todate transportation.

The Boston & Albany Raiload is now operating extra service using speedy and most comfortable Bee Liners on the Highland Branch in an effort to provide this much needed seraddition to the regular service shown in time tables. These trains have been running since December but will not be continued unless they are better patronized. ON WAR MEMORIAL Editor, Graphic: In regards to a recent posal to replace the World War II honor roll, now facing on the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Walnut street with another one inside the War Memorial Building, here are my candid, and humble opinions and suggestions as a non-vet-eran may see it; but one neverice. Robert Paise, movie actor turned radio and television emees, recently namd what he thought were the best contestants on an audience-participation show. He listed, in order, servicemen in uniform, retired professional and business people, and reluctant or shy persons.

As for servicemen, they make excellent fodder for quismasters because most of them have an exciting incident to relate, and besides, the average servicemen is restrained so much in expressing himself at the camp that when he does set a chance to sound off a bit. he makes the most of it. Retired business and professional people make excellent contestants, too, says Mr. Paise, because they know what they want to say and how to say it.

This ence shies away from boisterous persons in the audience. He explains that they often clam up when they get on stage and away from the crowd. Reductant ones, on the other hand, modestly agree to sappear and then, once in front of the microphone, wonder what they're doing on stage. These modest, shy and blushing folks often inaptre ad libs and lots of laughs through their sheer honesty. Honesty pays off . and that's true in the TV business. We're

Brownie Troop 45 of the Murry Road School in Aubrndale, held their Investiture Ceremony Thursday, February 11, in the school playroom. The following girls received their Brownie pins: Deborah Stratton, Leslie Roberts, Dorothy Palmaccio, Marcia Murphy, Sharon McCusty, Gail Kirkcaldy, Martha Ham, Jane Downing, Mary Dennison, Norma Colantuono, Judith Chretien, Linda Bracken, Marcia Bour-

Exchange Group Is Busy With Events

School . Exchange . Group is sive year that the Exchange now in the final stages of prep- has been held at Newton, and, aration for both the moneyraising events and the entertainment of the visiting students and their hosts.

On Monday, February 8th, the Exchange auditions for Pops were held at the High School. From the talent available, there is no question as to the high quality of program, which is being arranged. The Pops Committee has a few tricks up its sleeve, and these must be kept secret for the time being.

Work on the Rummage Sale to be held February 20th is being carried on at a fast tempo. Many concerns are contributing to this event. If any feel that they have been overlooked, will they please contact Mrs. Basil Rodenhizer, who heads the committee, at LA 7-6674.

On Wednesday, February 10, the exchange students heard an address by Mr. John Rubenstein, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who spoke about industries in Newton. In the meantime, a group of fathers are canvassing the "Blue-Chip" industries soliciting advertisements for the program for the Exchange-Pop musicale, to be held March 6th. On Tuesday evening, February 16th, there was a joint meeting of students, faculty advisors and parents, in the music hall in Building 2. Final plans for all events, including the rummage sale, pops musica, and the two dinners to be held for the visiting groups and their hosts, were discussed. and further assignments for students participating therein made.

The Rummage Sale will be an all-day affair, to be held in the High School Gymnasium. This has proved to be a most successful venture in the past, and we are hoping, through the cooperation of everybody, to outdo ourselves this year.

For those people who are still unacquainted with the School description follows:

because of its success, schools from all over the country are inquiring as to how they can hold similar exchanges. This year two groups of about thirty students each, and selected from the two upper classes of the High School, will be hosts to group from Hershey, Pennsylvania, and Cleveland Heights, Ohio, during the tenday periods starting March 21st and April 4th, respectively. During their stay in Newton, the visitors will live with their and historical places in this and neighboring communities. On April 19th, both groups from Newton will leave on their respective trips. They will then learn about living and working in communities with entirely different regional characteristics, and will learn how to accept both the differences in social background and economy and to have a sympathetic interest in other ways of think-hosts, who in turn, will be their guests when the Newton groups travel. They will attend school and church, and visit civic in stitutions, recreational facili-ties, outstanding industries, ing and living. Previous exchange groups visited Wyandotte, Michigan; Frederick, Maryland; Newport, Rhode Island; Clarks Summit, Pennsylvania; North Haven. Maine; Ottawa, Canada; Bra-denton, Florida, and Idaho Idaho. The Exchange group personnel includes the selected students, faculty leaders, faculty advisory committee, and the parents' committee.

The students' group meets regularly during the school year, on afternoons and during school hours. They plan their own money-raising activities both individually and as a group. Included in this year's plans were a paper drive and sales of book covers and corsages. They also assisted the parents' committee in their ac tivities by selling tickets, distributing literature, making posters, waiting on table, setting up the furniture for the rummage sale, collecting material for the sale, and in many other ways. The money thus raised will help to defray the expenses of traveling and of entertaining the visiting groups while they are in Newton.

The beautiful new 1954 Cadillac is now in our showroom-and this is an automobile that every American motorist should see . . . and inspect . . . and drive!

They should do this, first of all, because it will give them a better understanding of the things by which to judge the world's motor cars. And they should do this, too, because it will give them a revealing glimpse into the future of automotive design.

For it can be said, with the full support of historic precedent, that much of today's Cadillae will find its way into the cars of tomorrow.

Cadillac's sweeping new lines, its new proportions of glass and steel, and its many superlative new details of design will unquestionably have a profound influence on automotive stylists the world over.

The new roominess of Cadillac's interiors, the new beauty of its appointments, and the new richness of its fabrics and leathers will give the industry completely new standards of comfort and luxury. And Cadillac's great new power and responsiveness, its wonderful new handling ease and its incredible smoothness of operation are certain to serve as engineering guideposts for years to come.

But imitation is one thing—duplication another. And no amount of imitation could ever produce Cadillac's happy combination of brilliant styling, extraordinary luxury and magnificent performance.

Nor could it bring to another motor car Cadillac's unprecedented acceptance among the world's motor-ists... the feeling of pride that comes to the man who sits behind its wheel... or its reputation as the Standard of the World.

These are Cadillac "exclusives"—hard won through decades of motor car leadership, and through undeviating adherence to the highest ideals of automotive production.

We repeat—you ought to come in and see the new 1954 Cadillac. For it is Cadillac's annual report to the nation on the progress of American motor car design-and the news has never been so exciting! You'll be most welcome at any time.

AVOID SELF-DOSING . . . "HE WHO DOCTORS HIMSELF HAS A FOOL FOR A PHYSICIAN."

It is dangerous for the amateur to rely on home remedies for relief of pain, aches or other symptoms of illness. In the first place the cause of the distress may be deep-rooted. Neglect may cause serious illness.

Secondly, when drugs are used unwisely by persons unfamiliar with their effect on the body, they may cause harm instead of relief.

Thirdly, the average person, even if he has medical training, is seldom able to analyse his own complaints objectively . . . play safe, see your physician.

38181. 128-3t Newton Centre Savings Bank, 103 Union st., Newton Centre — Re: Lost Bank book No. 28098. 118-3t teams fought frantically for a win. Belmont entered the game needing only a tie to preserve its top ranking, but the red-and-blue skaters played for the win as if Newton onths old. Call BEacon 2-7084 after 5:30 p.m. g was in front and Belmont trailing. Often a team leading its opponent in such a crucial encounter turns to "kitty bar the door" hockey. It is to Belmont's credit that the skaters shot the works from the start, setting up one of the best schoolboy games of the year . . . The tension in the Arena was gripping as the teams took the ice. Belmont and Newton cheerleaders, backed by an informal mont and Newton cheerleaders, backed by an informal Newton band, took up the slack whenever the spectators relaxed their shouting . . . The Orange and Black, trying to notch its eight straight victory, seemed overanixoius in the opening period. Belmont easily dominated the play, but a stout defense and stellar goal-tending by Tom Mc-Lellan kept the scoreboard clear throughout the first

> Belmont returned to the attack in the second period as Newton remained sluggish and unco-ordinated. In the second minute of play, the Orange and Black tried to pin Belmont in its own zone. A Belmont wing dashed down the right-hand lane with the puck, eluded Capt. Jimmy Wiper at mid-ice and flew into the Newton end with high-scorer Johnny Viglorolo trailing in center-ice . . . Paul Fitzgerald, the lone Orange defender in front of McLellan, was forced to move toward the puck-carrier. A soft pass followed to Viglorolo who steered the disc underneath the sprawling McLellan.

The score seemed to give Newton the spark it needed. and the action followed at a dizzying pace. A minute later, Orange and Black wing Billy Reilly fired a blazing shot in on the Belmont net. The shot was blocked, bounced off to the right where Kenny Hayes waited all alone, and the score was tied with an easy flip into the unguarded net . . . Belmont maintained a slight edge for the rest of the period. McLellan continued a tower of strength between the pipes, while at the other end Newtons few good shots were also turned away. McLellan coolly blocked shots, cleared loose pucks and in general played like a professional, in contrast to his edgy but yet effective counterpart at the Belmont end . . . Although Newton had few opportunities, most of them were good ones. Reilly especially impressed the crowd with his rifle-like shots. Awkward and slow on skates, he looked out of place down on the rink until he let go a few screeching blasts which seemed powerful enough to carry the goalie through the back of the net . . . The crowd oohed and aahed at every Newton shot as the Belmont net tender flopped to the ice every time the puck came near the cage. About everyone present realized that goal was the Achille's heel in Belmont's title hopes, lending an extra bit of tension to every shot. But neither side was able to poke the disc into the twine, and the climactic period approached with the score moments of the third period. With one Belmont defenseman off the ice for a minute, the Orange and Black confined Belmont behind its own red line for almost the entire penalty . . . Several close-up shots went awry, and a perfectly set-up play by an unguarded corner of the net misfired when the puck jumped over a waiting stick. That seemed to scare Belmont into action, and the red-and-white sextet took over the play from then on.

The curtain rang down on the end of the season as the Orange and Black attempted to get a final, organized thrust underway, but Belmont poke-checked and delayed to the final buzzer. The whole game was wrapped up in that first penalty. After Newton failed to score, the Orange and Black had nothing left . . . Newton should have no gripes. Belmont deserved the title, and could have won the game by a wide margin had the Newton defense let down for an instant. The Orange and Black had its chances as well, and need not be ashamed of its showing Saturday . . . Let's hope these two teams have a chance to meet again in some advanced round of the state tour-nament to be held in March. This year's tournament should prove especially interesting, since virtually all teams entering will be of above-average talent . . . In recent years, the early rounds of the tournament have found some weird mis-matches between teams which dominated leagues and other teams which came from betterbalanced leagues. This year, however, seems to be the time of the powerhouse, where one or two squads over-whelmingly dominate their leagues . . . This domination would seem to indicate that the best players, by some odd chance, are found on the same teams. The state championship is annually one of the top schoolboy sports spectacles of the year. It offers four games per evening or afternoon for a week. And we hope to see Newton playing more than once in this one-loss-and-out tourney.

Ever since the tremendous uproar a year ago last autumn over legislative pensions, the members of the Massachusetts Legislature have very gingerly approached the subject of granting themselves retirement allowances. It now appears likely that pensions for legislators will be placed back on the statute books before the close of the present session on Beacon Hill, but they will be considerably more modest than those which were wiped out as a result of the furore which followed the 1952

A special recess commission has been and is now studying the entire problem of legislative pensions, and it is expected to submit its report to the Legislature within the next weeks.

Information which has seeped out from the closeddoor conferences held by the commission indicates that its members will recommend that the legislators be granted approximately the same retirement privileges which are extended to all State employees.

In all probability even a move of that nature will provoke a bitter controversy because of the possibility that the law will be liberalized in the future and that new abuses will develop in the years to

If the legislators consider that this is an unfair situation-and in some respects it is—they have only themselves to blame.

When a bill providing that legislators should be allowed to retire on pensions was enacted back in the administration of ex-Governor Robert F. Bradford, no real objection was offered to the measure.

But then in the succeeding years amendments were written into the law granting special privileges and increasing the benefits until the famous "gold rush" of 1952 aroused a volley of shocked pro-test that sent the lawmakers scurrying back into special session under the pressure of public indignation.

So scandalous were the disclosures of what had been done that for a time there was a serious danger the people would lose confidence in their State's law-mak-

Only careful and dignified handling of the legislative session a year ago averted that danger and regained most of the prestige the Legislature had lost.

The law-makers obviously felt that the public wasn't ready last year to telerate a move to restore even a portion of the legislative pension program that was scrapped at the history-making special session in September, 1952.

But a large number of legislators are planning to vote themselves some kind of pensions before the close of the present session. Some of them make no secret of the fact that they regret yield-ing to pressure and repealing their pensions 17 months ago.

How the public will react to the restoration of even modest pensions is uncertain. The move is fraught with political risk, and in an election year it could have explosive reverberations.

Some legislators have declared that they will insist that safeguards be written into the law to prevent any abuses from developing in the future, but the cold fact of the matter is that the legislators can remove from the law books any-thing that they place on them, and the safeguards won't mean much, if some future Legislature decides to eliminate

The guessing is that a good many legislators will shy away from this proposition, recalling all too vividly the public furore aroused by a move that also had a very conservative beginning.

March promises to be a rather busy political month in Massachusetts.

Mayor John B. Hynes will announce during the early part of the month whether he will be a candidate for either Governor or U. S. Senator. Hynes, of course, is being pressured constantly by Democratic leaders to head their party's State ticket in next fall's campaign.

If the Boston Mayor decides not to run, he will leave no opening for a draft but will state that in the event he were nominated by the State convention next June, he would decline the nomination.

There is still some possibility that

Hynes may yield to the arguments of Democratic chieftains and agree to seek State-wide office. The probability, how-ever, is that he will decline to run and concentrate on his job of guiding Boston's municipal affairs.

The belief that former Governor Dever will be drafted at the State convention in June and that he will not decline a nomination is slowing down a number of candidates who otherwise would be disposed to announce themselves contenders either for the Governorship or a place in the U. S. Senate.

This actually may prove a serious handicap to some of the prospective Democratic candidates. Except for Dever himself, none of them can afford to wait until June before starting to build their political fences for they are not sufficiently well known throughout the State.

out the State. Sheriff Howard Fitzpatrick, for example, is scarcely known outside of Middlesex County. If he were to run for Governor, which he may do if both Dever and Hynes remain on the sidelines, he would have a remain on the sidelines, he would face a tremendous amount of work in familiarizing himself to the voters in other parts of the State and even some of those in Greater Boston.

The same thing is true of Democratic House Leader Robert Murphy of Malden who is probably better known than Fitzpatrick as a result of his legislative activity but who still falls far short of being as familiar a figure as a Dever or a Hynes.

There will, however, be a rush of candidates into the contests for the Democratic nominations for Lieutenant Governor and State Treasurer.

Many persons must be wondering how far a member of the United States Senate can sink into utter irresponsibility after reading the manner in which the charges against Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren were handled by Senator William Langer of North Dakota.

Ordinarily, the chairman of a Senate committee would sift and investigate allegations of such a nature, ascertain whence they came and if there was any basis for them. If, after a proper evaluation, they were determined to be unfounded, they would be discarded and disregarded. That, however, is not the procedure followed by the reckless Senator Langer.

After 10 charges against Chief Jus-tice Warren were made public by Langer at a committee hearing, it was found that none of them had been made under oath, that none had been checked by Langer and that some were virtually anonymous. Langer had not even checked the signatures on the letters to determine whether they were fictitious. Some of the persons signing the charges gave no addresses where they might be located, and one charge, in fact, was made by a fugitive from justice who listed no address lest the law catch up with him.

It is difficult to conceive of anything more absurd than a member of the world's greatest law-making body releasing to the public such irresponsible charges against a man named as head of United States Supreme Court. A witch hunt would assume an air of respectability by comparison with the technique of Senator Langer.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

An anonymous person, shouting in a hysterical voice, telephoned the desk clerks at two Butte, Mont., hotels that smoke was pouring from two top-floor windows. When the clerks rushed off to investigate, thieves emptied the tills. As you probably have guessed, there was no

While chewing the remains of a chicken dinner in Melbourne, Australia, Walter Kaspen, a Ukrainian migrant bit heavily into what he thought was a small bone and discovered that he had nearly swallowed a gold nugget. The chicken cost him $1.40. The nugget was worth $67. Kaspen immediately set out for the farm where he bought the chicken to see if he could find any more gold.

While taking his test for an automobile driver's license in Mexico City, Felipe Ladelski ran over a traffic officer and broke his leg. P. S.: He flunked the exam.

Small boys in Atlantic City really have something to talk about. One police officer patrolling his beat has a tiny radio set projecting from his metal badge on his cap. Page Buck Rogers and the interplanetary police.

When George Lewis, Jr., was arrested in a raid on an Elkhart, Ind., gaming house and taken to the police station, police alleged that he raised the $25 to post as his bond by picking the pockets of a fallow gambler.

Bill M. Johnson of Memphis was ex-cused from jury duty after he informed Defense Attorney Hunter Cochrane that he was a professional mind reader.

Burglars thought they were being both clever and foresighted when they removed the electric fuses before looting John B. Rapier's store in San Bernardino, Calif. They were caught red-handed when Rapier emerged from his living quarters to determine why his electric blanket had

Frank S. Murray was nine days late in showing up in a Nashville court to answer a drunken driving charge. He had a straightforward answer, however, when he was asked why he had missed his first court date. "To tell the truth, judge," he said, "I was drunk."

Charged with rifling the safe of the Farmers' Meat Market in Dallas, Reggie Murphy surprised detectives with his explanation of why he had been so careful about padlocking the front door before making his departure. "I didn't want some thief to come along and steal all the man's meat," he declared.

William Z. Burnette and Milburn H. Holbrook were freed in Knoxville, Tenn., after their cars had been in a collision, when they told the judge that the only drinks they had consumed were a couple of nips while waiting for the police to ar-rive and investigate the accident.

Thomas O. Bucher of Toledo offered one of the most novel excuses on record to answer a charge of illegal parking. He explained that he had become ill "watching the antics of a woman driver" and stopped only long enough to buy some medicine.

Claude Rogers was acquitted of drunken driving in Fort Worth after he testified that the reason his car had been zigzagging was that he had been trying to take off a shoe that was pinching his foot and that he staggered after his arrest because the shoe was only half on his foot.

There if a definite need for organizations with professional youth leaders here in Newton, and the West Newton Community Center can meet these needs if it has adequate space and up-to-date facilities. The Center needs the immediate and urgent cooperation of its trustees, members, and the community at large in helping to find new quarters for this worthwhile organization so it can better serve the youth of our city.

An interesting feature of the new day in Hollywood is the fact that, as fast as their contracts run out, most of the established stars are becoming of the established stars are becoming free agents. The major studios have cut their rosters down to a handful of contract stars — two or three against a former list of dozens or hundreds. What does this mean to us? It means that almost all of the movie stars are becoming free to work in television as they want to . . . and doing their movies on a free lance basis.

The Newton Free Library and Its Predecessors

Generally speaking the Newton Free Library dates from the Civil War. In June 1866, Mr. Joel H. Hills obtained a subscription of thirty-three hundred dollars from seventeen subscribers to purchase the site of the Main Library. In September 1866, subscribers elected three trustees, George H. Jones, John C. Chaffin and Isaac T. Burr, to take the initiative in any measure to promote the interests of a "Free Public Library" and in the erection of a suitable building. The cornerstone of the original library building was laid in 1868, the building was dedicated on June 17, 1870, the largest donor was Hon. J. Wiley Edmands. In 1876 the formal transfer of the library to the City took place.

The public libraries, and public schools of New England are a natural outgrowth of the educational interests of the colonists. The roots of these institutions are colonial in origin. Some predecessors of the present Newton Free Library are: Social Library Society in the West Parish," established in 1798; the "Adelphian Library" formed in 1826 under the leadership of the Hon. William Jackson and Mr. Seth Davis; the "West New of honor a living exam- ber of Commerce, the Sanford ton Athenaem" founded in 1849 with the Hon. Horace Manta as an important leader, the "Newton Literary Association" established also in 1849; the "Newton Centre Library Association" organized in 1859. Books from these early libraries were added to the Newton Free Library book collection after it was firmly

The Jackson Family and Homestead 1670 - 1954

One hundred and twenty-five years is a far reach back into the history of a town, a family, a house. The Jackson Homestead, however, counts over its own two hundred and eighty-four years with satisfaction and pride in its share and shaping of Newton's history.

With its four tall chimneys, spacious square rooms, beautiful arched doorway and the open gate of its curved white fence, the new home of the Jacksons welcomed all who came-family friends or strangers. personal freedom were so strong that he allowed the Homestead with his fourteen children the longest of any generation. Prominent in town affairs, he helped to bring the railroad through Newton on its way west from Boston. Co-founder of Eliot Church, first president of the Newton Savings Bank, he was an ardent abolitionist. A member of Congress, he knew William Lloyd Garrison and Henry Ward Beecher. His convictions on personal freedom were so strong that he allowed the Homstead to be used as an "underground station" and many a runaway slave, risking his life to reach the freedom of Canada, was secretly harbored and cared for by the Jackson Family.

William Jackson died a poor man, except for the Homestead and few acres of land, but is remembered as "the finest representative of the name of Jackson." His children lived here until 1906 and his children and his children's children closely paralleled those of the city itself. When the Homestead was built neither stoves nor matches were invented. Fireplaces and candles were horses and sleighs gave way to steam trains and cars. Gone were their hoop skirts and center parted hair with long curls, gone their sewing circles and temperance meetings. Gone, too, were the spacious acres, the large fruit and vegetable gardens the gooseberries and current bushes-the rose and tulip beds. Gone were the large family gatherings. "Forty-six Jacksons sat down to Thanksgiving dinner, a hundred and forty-three years ago in the old family dining room"-gone,, indeed as the family scattered, some to New York, some to the West and some to far places. For some years the homestead was lived in by the granddaughters and three of the great-grandchildren of William Jackson. About 1930 it was rented to strangers.

The changes in the ways and customs of William Jackson

Then, some five years ago, the estate was bought from Newton's history.

Andover Newton Theological School, 1807 - 1954

The Andover Theological Seminary (1807) is the oldest Congregational Seminary in America. Newton Theological Instituion (1825) is the oldest Baptist Seminary in America. Andover Newton Theological School (1931) is the pioneer affiliated interdenominational seminary in America. Samuel Francis Smith wrote the words of "America," our National Hymn, in 1832, while a senior at Andover Theological Seminary. Newton has provided four Presidents of Brown University.

Although the founders of the Newton Theological Institution envisaged a place where "the combined powers of two or three or more men of experience, and men of God, can be em-ployed in instructing and forming the manners and habits and character of pious young men for the work of the ministry," the record through the years shows that Andover and Newton together have graduated about 7,000 students. Of these, over 5,000 have gone into the parish ministry and 700 into missionnot luxuries but necessities. As the years passed the Jackson's ary service; 500 have become university, college and seminary professors and 148, university and college presidents. The One Hundred Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of the establishment of the Newton Theological Institution was held in 1950.

In 1825 the desire was to have the new theological seminary in the vicinity of Boston"; when there was the opportunity to secure a beautiful site in Newton Centre, the question was raised as to whether it was not too far out in the country, and was answered favorably because Boston could be easly reached by a stage that passed by the foot of the hill. In terms of present Newton Centre real estate values, it should be noted that the Peck Estate, consisting of eighty acres and "elegant man-sion house," with meadows, gardens, orchards, a 5 acre garden," was purchased for $4,250.00, the buildings being ample for the use of the Institution.

Two of the important leaders in the affiliation of Andover and Newton, which made possible the joining of their resources for a stronger Institution, are Dr. E. C. Herrick, former President of the Seminary and author of "Turn Again Home": "Andover Newton Theological School and Reminiscences from an Unkept Journal"-in whose honor Herrick House and Herrick Road were named, and Dean Vaughan Dabney, the first and only Dean of the School.

Women's Club will hear a discussion of cancer with particular reference to cancer in women on Monday, March 1, at the Neighborhood Club, 1601 Beacon street, at 1:30 p.m., it was announced this week by Mrs. Quentin M. Geiman, who arranged the program. Dr. Weston T. Buddington will outline what cancer is and how science is progressing in its fight to conquer the disease. Supplementing his talk will be a showing of the motion picture, produced by the American Cancer Society, "Breast Self-Examination."

This is one of a series of educational programs before clubs and organizations of Massachusetts arranged through cooperation of the educational unit of the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society.

The meetings are designed to help fight cancer through wider dissemination of the facts about disease—in particular the lifesaving fact that cancer is curable if discovered in time.

To enforce this message, the Cancer Society particularly stresses Cancer's Seven Danger Signals. While they do not necessarily mean cancer is present, they should warn an individual to consult a physician without delay. They are: Any sore than does not heal quickly; unusual bleeding or discharge; painless lumps or swellings; persistent indigestion or unexplained loss of weight; progressive change in a wart or birthmark; persistent hoarseness or cough or difficulty in swallowing; any unexplained change in normal, regular bowel

The Dark Towers' By Newton Players On March 4, 5, 6 As the time approaches for the Newton Players' presenta-tion of "The Dark Tower" on March 4, 5 and 6 the activities of the Workshop group have redoubled. The traditional success of their undertakings is attested by audiences' enthusiastic reaction to the settings and lighting of the plays pro-duced by this organization. This is most gratifying to the directors who feel that the increased interest in this aspect of play production warrants securing permanent quarters for the Workshop. Not only would this insure adequate facilities for work and storage but provide a suitable place for play-reading to small groups and the presentation of one act plays, perhaps by the younger members as a means of gaining in dramatic experience. The Newton Players' first venture in play-reading occurred in the fall of 1953 when "On Approval," edited and directed by Mrs. William H. Brackett, was presented to the Florence Crittenten League and repeated by request, before other groups. The giving of additional one act plays would offer opportuni-

"Your directors are tending to the view that Newton can no longer accept increased school demands; that just as with any other department, we must now make a real effort toward a levelling off. Certainly it would seem that a more searching analysis is needed of how much more extra than other comunities Newton really requires in school services, school buildings, school methods and school payments for all these things.

Newton's ambitious school buildings program has resulted in a large number of new schools opening in the city since World War II. Its approach to the problem of a rapidly-expanding school population has drawn much praise from state and national observers. Through long-range planning, the effect of this new construction upon the tax rate has been kept fairly low, compared to other cities and downs faced with a sudden influx of schoolaged youngsters. But in Newton, as in most cities, schools take the lion's share of the budget.

The Hendrickson committee brought out the fact that a large number of complaints in Boston had resulted in practically no convictions. On the other hand, licensees in some smaller communities strenuously insist that they have been prosecuted for serving a person who looked clearly like an adult. In order to give these licensees a reasonable break, S-357 has been amended to permit the license holder to avoid prosecution if he can prove to the court that he had reasonable grounds for believing his customer was an adult. BU's Gershwin Theatre Has Its Premiere

One of the most important First Nights in many decades was the Grand Opening of the Boston University Gershwin Theatre last night, (Wednesday) with a production of "Hamlet" in modern dress.

"Hamlet" marked a "first" not only for the Gershwin Theatre, but launched the new Theatre Arts Department under its new college of music The Theatre Arts Department was set up so that its scope will command national attention, with scholarships available to students throughout the country studying Theatre at a graduate level.
